A Santa Barbara County Genealogical Society membership is $7.50 for the calendar year and includes one subscription to the Society's quarterly, ANCESTORS WEST. Dues are payable by February first. Members joining after July first will be required to pay but half the annual dues and will receive the last two issues of the quarterly for that year. Special consideration is given for Life, Associate and Honorary memberships.

The Society meets the first Saturday of each month from 10 AM to 3 PM at the Goleta Public Library, 500 North Fairview Avenue, Goleta, California for class instruction, business session, and workshop using the Society Library. Attendance of visitors is warmly encouraged.

ANCESTORS WEST is published quarterly in March, June, September and December. Non-member subscriptions are $6.00 per annum. Single copies of current and back issues are $1.50, depending upon availability. The rate for advertising is $3.00 for the first 20 words and ten cents for each additional word. Exchange advertising from genealogical and historical periodicals is welcomed. Contributions of a genealogical or historical nature will be accepted as space allows. Quotes and reviews from pieces appearing in ANCESTORS WEST have the Society's approval if the source is credited.

an Editorial

OUT ON A LIMB

Honest Abe's timing was off by five score and some years and he was more than a little confused over authorship. It is now that you have to endure something to "little note nor long remember." That is the bad news. The good news is that editorials are not included in the planning for future issues of ANCESTORS WEST.

Temptation was strong to title this piece after Gwyn Griffin's novel of a few years past, "An Operational Necessity." That would have properly described the motivation for the actions to be explained. Ultimately the decision was to use one more in keeping with the state of mind after the fait accompli. Arborescent terms have been so generously adapted to genealogical use it seemed appropriate enough to employ one to head the following apologia.

The radical change in format can have hardly escaped your attention. To reassure those uncomfortable with change let me hasten to point out that the major effects are of a mechanical nature. The objective was improvement in legibility through conversion to offset printing from mimeograph as used in the past. To accomplish this, and keep costs within budgetary limits, it was necessary to utilize space more efficiently. This is being done through reduction of the size of type. One of the earliest bumper stickers was one that read, "If you can read this, you're too close." If you can read this, I am close enough.

Half the paper formerly required will now be used, a fact that won't win any literary awards but ought to be worth at least a nod from a few conservationist groups. By exploiting the cover surfaces for copy it is now possible to include approximately twenty per cent more information in an average size issue. You are getting more in less, as the Phoenicians are known to have told their business clients.

Content will continue to emphasize vital records of Santa Barbara County with expansion to include baptismal, marriage, and cemetery entries of parochial origin. Beyond this many private sources will be solicited for bible and other family records, including narratives of family movement. Succeeding issues will include features on many western families of note with references to their colonial and foreign roots. Historical articles illustrative of past lifestyles will appear. Space does not allow listing the many works already in progress. Our goal will be to educate, inform and, perhaps, even entertain you. Genealogy doesn't have to be all sex and violence.

QUERIES

THE LATE, LAMENTED BOSTON EVENING TRANSCRIPT

The most prestigious newspaper genealogical department ever published in the United States was that of The Boston Evening Transcript. Over a period extending from 1904 to 1941, queries, answers and notes appeared twice weekly. Contributors were generally identified by initials or pseudonyms, sometimes cogent, sometimes cryptic. With familiarization it is possible to distinguish the writing of a skilled genealogist, based on solid, dependable data and reliable sources to gain invaluable clues to one's own research. A system of serial numbers was also employed to associate the queries and answers. Thus, you find, sometimes running over a period of many years, exchanges involving countless contributors with any number of opening queries.

The columns are available on microcards (opaque reductions, not to be confused with microfiche which are viewed by transmitted light) and are represented in the collection of the Los Angeles Central Library. At the Heritage Library in Glendale, the Transcript pages can be found bound in portfolio form. The portfolios are by far the easiest to work with, making Glendale the logical place for research for those wishing to avoid eyestrain and waiting for access to a viewer. There is one problem, however, an index has to be consulted to locate items that may be of interest to you, that index is at Los Angeles and not at Glendale. The references are contained in the American Genealogical-Biographical Index to American Genealogical and Local History Materials. This work, dating from 1952, succeeds the earlier American Genealogical Index, 1942-1952. There are many volumes filling a number of shelves. The entries list all information available to the editors on an individual in the following order: Surname, given name(s), maiden name for married females, the year of birth, and state or country of birth. Below this are the various references. In the case of one in the Boston Transcript, it is shown with the serial number followed by the date of publication. In itself, the index is a valuable tool. By comparing references with names one is able to align potential relationships.

The indices and microcards are published by the Godfrey Memorial Library in Middletown, Connecticut. They can be found in other libraries in the state as well, a telephone call will confirm the availability. This article has concerned itself with but two of the most accessible with the intent of bringing this wellspring to the attention of those researchers who may have not been aware of its importance, or of its very existence.

THE GAME OF THE NAME

CALIFORNIA PLACE NAMES, Gudde, University of California Press, tells us:

Birds of a different feather, the seagull and the quail, appear in place names close to one another in GAVIOTA and SISQUOC, the former Spanish and the latter Chumash.

GOBERNADOR canyon and creek, near Carpinteria, are most likely named after the gobernadora shrub (Zyzyphyllum tridentatum) as there is no reason to connect it with the Spanish word for 'governor.'

OJAI, originally named Nordhoff in 1874 after the famous writer, was re-named in 1916 after the valley in which it is situated. A rancheria de Ojai is shown around 1834, and the name, with variants, appears earlier on a list of rancherias of Mission San Buenaventura. The name is Chumash (A'hwai), meaning 'moon.'

BREA is Spanish for 'tar.' Thus, La Brea Tar Pits is The Tar Tar Pits. Pismo in Indian also means 'tar.' Welcome to PISMO BEACH.

SO SWEET A PLACE

It might make one in love with death, to think that one should be buried in so sweet a place.

Percy Bysshe Shelley 1792-1822

The article, beginning on the following page, Santa Barbara County Hospital Cemetery, is distinguished by the appearance of several surnames of genealogical interest and the namesake of a famous personage. The introduction has appropriated its title and opening lines from the preface to Adonais, the poet's elegy to Keats after the latter's death in Rome, and burial there in the Protestant Cemetery. Nothing could provide more irony than the comparison between Keat's resting place and the neglected field, overgrown with chaparral, where Percy Bysshe Shelley, ca. 1847-1897, reposes. Lest one rush to judgement about the worth of the souls whose mortal remains have been consigned to such spots, consider all who have disappeared without trace in the Old West. For those searching for these 'vanished Americans,' this list may provide some clues.

While there was not time for researching all the names, some preliminary study was made on Shelley, poet and namesake. The Shelley buried in Santa Barbara was from New York State and had resided in this area for about 7 years before his demise. The poet's great grandfather, Timothy Shelley, emigrated to America where he married Mrs. Johanna Plum of New York. Sir Bysshe Shelley, Bart., 1731-1815, the grandfather, born in Newark, N.J., moved to England where he successively married two heiresses, doing his fortune no harm. Shelley's spouse, as you no doubt know, left her mark in letters with "Frankenstein."

The hospital cemetery qualifies as a Potter's Field. In tribute to those unfortunates, let us consider the origin of the term, keeping in mind that not enough emphasis can be placed on the word 'stranger,' with all its implications.

Then Judas, who had betrayed him, when he saw that he was condemned, repented himself, and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders, saying, I have sinned, in that I have betrayed the innocent blood. And they said, What is that to us? See thou to that. And he cast down the pieces of silver in the temple, and departed; and went and hanged himself. And the chief priests took the silver pieces, and said, It is not lawful to put them in the treasury, because it is the price of blood. And they took counsel, and bought with them the potter's field to bury strangers in.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY HOSPITAL CEMETERY, 1892-1904

Between 1892 and 1904, inclusive, 100 persons were buried in the Santa Barbara County Hospital Cemetery adjacent to the hospital at Cacique and South Salinas Streets. In 1917, after a new hospital was built and the old site sold, the remains were transferred to the northeast corner of the new hospital property. Listed below are the names of the 100 as they appear in the Register of Deaths in the Recorder's office. In the list, which was compiled by the Recorder's office in 1964, (1) shows the name was all or partially defaced on the headstone though the death date and age was decipherable. (2) indicates data on the marker was totally obliterated or the headstone missing.

MEMBER ANCESTOR TABLES, DATING FROM THE IMMIGRANT

In the Bicentennial Year the Central New York Genealogical Society published a series of volumes of Six Generation Ancestor Tables submitted by its members. As explained by the Society, the format was styled after that devised by the late Donald Lines Jacobus. Readers were warned that acceptance of names, dates and places without seeking independent proof from primary sources should be avoided. The intent of the project was to assist not only the Society's members, but all persons with any New York State questions. With the introduction of a regular feature in ANCESTORS WEST emulating CNYGS's effort we hope to realize similar aims, but without geographical restrictions. The data will be presented in less detail but will continue beyond six generations, where appropriate, to include the immigrant ancestor. Immigrant parents will be thus noted, excluding like reference to children accompanying them and others born outside the United States or colonial America after the family's initial arrival. As most of the tables thus far received have included only the country or state for place names, the charts will be prepared showing them in that way. This can be expanded to include towns or counties in the future if that is felt necessary. Unknowns will be indicated by question marks. If dates are approximate, they will be underlined. Jacobus' numbering system will be employed with generations delineated by extra spacing. Columns following names will be in order of year of birth, place, year of death and place. Members are urged to submit tables, which will be published in order of receipt and subject to availability of space.

THE IRISH ARE COMING

Patricia White, a freelance writer and former New York Times columnist, who spoke at the Society's February meeting, besides stirring up much interest with her talk, has donated data from her Irish genealogical research which will serve as the basis of an article to appear in the next issue of ANCESTORS WEST. What Alex Hailey did for Black American genealogy, Ms. White is attempting to do for the "White" Irish. Whether you accept the definition that "History is gossip" or "History is written by winners," it is easy to understand her feeling that history has handed the Irish the dirty end of the shillelagh. This is comprehended when one considers how many with "true" Irish ancestry bear English surnames. Of course, many Americans have Gaelic surnames adapted from diverse nationalities, Zajic to O'Hare as an example. And one cannot forget, "If the name Fitz, it's Norman." Coleridge is quoted as saying, "What is a name but air?" A fine reminder for us not to put on airs about our names, after all, what would the Omarchadhas have to say about the Murphys?

Ms. White has a work in progress that will reveal much about early Irish settlers in America. The feeling is that it will dispell many myths concerning the contributions of various groups in the founding. As she is quick to point out, how fitting it was that a dying nation play an important role in the birth of another.

We may do our shopping for folklore from different shelves, but it would be hard to be more convincing. She is able to not only make us understand that Black is Beautiful but that White is LeBlanc, Blanco, Belko, Weiss, Bianchi, Byelov and Gwynne. Time allowed us but an appetizer, if I had my way, Ms. White would return for an encore faster than you can say Peadar O Tuathail.

REVIEWS OF BOOKS

GENEALOGICAL PERIODICAL ANNUAL INDEX --- 1975, Laird C. Towle, editor (Bowie, MD: The Yankee Bookman), 62 pages, $9.50.

The current issue, Volume 14, has over 4,000 indexed citations culled from 117 genealogical and 39 surname or family association periodicals which, as the author states, "Strives to encompass all English-language genealogical periodicals." The listings are indexed as to surname, genealogical heading, topic or book review. In addition, heraldry and related subjects are included. Each listing attempts to establish the true content in addition to the title, providing the reader with something tangible to guide his research.

GENEALOGY VIA NEWSLETTER, by N. Burr Coryell (Santa Barbara, CA: P.I.P), illustrated, 19 pages, $5.00.

The author has given a concise outline to anyone wishing to establish a newsletter, one which seems to cover all facets. He begins with a 'why' premise which he explains immediately: "Everyone has interesting stories" and proceeds from that point, covering such things as choosing a 'name,' frequency of publication and, most importantly, the editor, YOU! He then covers the mechanics of obtaining mailing lists, types of articles, use of photographs, layout, distribution, etc. Additionally, he touches on financing (cost, if you prefer) and how to solicit contributions. However, he glosses over the time spent in establishing and publishing a newsletter, maintaining that the fun, travel and acquaintances made justify the effort expended. This publication is heartily recommended for anyone considering publishing a newsletter -- be it genealogical or not.

PARISH MAPS OF THE COUNTIES OF ENGLAND AND WALES, compiled by The Institute of Heraldic and Genealogical Studies, Northgate, Canterbury, Kent, England (Logan, UT: The Everton Publishers, Inc.), illustrated, 46 pages, $14.95.

The institution compiling the maps included in this fine volume went to great lengths to delineate the ancient parochial boundaries, indicate the probate court jurisdiction effecting each area and list the commencement dates for surviving parish registers in England and Wales. Through use of this volume the researcher can untangle some of the problems confronting him in establishing the ecclesiastical jurisdiction for the birthplaces and residences of ancestors who were from these sections of the United Kingdom. The only criticism centers on the scale used to fit maps to the pages. A reading glass of some sort is a necessary aid when the book is used. A must for every genealogical society or library.

IT HAPPENED IN OLD SANTA BARBARA, by Walker A. Tompkins (Santa Barbara, CA: Santa Barbara National Bank), illustrated, 306 pages.

This edition, a collection of vignettes from the pen of Santa Barbara's adopted son, was distributed by Santa Barbara National Bank without cost for promotional reasons. For those interested in California history, and particularly that of the Santa Barbara region, here is a wealth of information presented in a most entertaining way. What makes this history unique is its treatment of the 'little people,' the ones overlooked in most of the chronicles of Santa Barbara's romantic past. The tales are arranged in chronological order (with some overlap) beginning with the discovery by Cabrillo in 1542, "..... just half a century plus four days from Columbus' landfall in the New World" to the World War II incident of the shelling of Ellwood by a Japanese submarine. This is not a dry, factual account but a warm narrative of the everyday happenings now preserved for posterity by Mr. Tompkins' incisive study. Perhaps not of direct genealogical import, but a helpmate to research in the fashion of more ambitious social histories.

CHEROKEE COUNTY HISTORY, by Mrs. Frank Ross Stewart (Birmingham, AL: The Birmingham Printing Co.), 483 pages, $20.00.

This volume, Officials and Government, is the second of a series, judging from the proposed chapters referred to. This enumerates past and present officeholders and representatives of Cherokee, County, Alabama. Many of the names are accompanied by biographical sketches. Entries date from 1856 and may not be of a primarily genealogical character. The sketches, however, include enough in the way of names of wives and children, dates, service, fraternal organization activities and extracts from newspapers and official documents to provide a wealth of clues for searchers looking for 'proof' of an ancestor. There are two indexes, one for the preceding volume, which is bound in, and a loose mimeographed index in a pocket affixed to the book. The latter stands a good chance of becoming lost. The index problem notwithstanding, the book is well produced and covers much material in a direct manner. Strongly recommended for those with an interest in this region.

A MIGRATION STUDY OF THE THIRTY-TWO STATES AND THE FOUR ORGANIZED TERRITORIES COMPRISING THE UNITED STATES IN 1850, compiled by Eleanor Myers (Syracuse, NY: Central New York Genealogical Society, 1977), 48 pages, $4.00.

The work divides the tabulations of the 1850 federal census into a two-part study of migration patterns. The first part concerns itself with movements among the states and territories, the second with migrants from without. The section dealing with internal migration has columns under the heading of each state or territory listing: (1) The number of native-born, within its confines or another of the states or territories. (2) The foreign-born, listed by country of origin. (3) States and territories receiving migrants from that state by name with accompanying figures. All figures are in descending order. The second section is devoted to a tabulation of foreign migrants by country and state or territory of destination. Such a statistical study increases in importance with the expertise of the researcher. Still, it has much to offer the less sophisticated. An example would be the ancestor living in Delaware in 1840 and unaccounted for in 1850. Since 12,000 from Delaware are shown in Pennsylvania, that would be the first choice to begin the search. Vermont is the least likely, reflecting but a single soul traveling in that direction. This publication continues the tradition of impressive projects by CNYGS. A valuable addition to any library.
