COLIN R. CHAPMAN VISITATION - LECTURES

SBCGS was privileged for a second time to have as a guestspeaker the recently retired Chairman of the Federation of Family History Societies, the international organization with headquarters in England. By profession a certified engineer, an energy technologist, a chemistry graduate, and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Health, he has been interested in Genealogy for 30 years; was a member of the Executive Board of the International Federation of Family History Societies and its Chief Executive until April 10, 1983. He is an instructor and assessor for the Duke of Edinburgh's Silver Award in Heraldry; has founded seven major genealogical societies in England; lectured at the World Conference on Records in Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1980, when he first visited Santa Barbara, and is on his fourth Genealogical Lecture Tour of North America. On his first visit he stayed in the homes of members in the Goleta area and this time his hosts were George and Audrey Guntermann of Montecito.

The dinner and lecture at the First Congregational Church dining hall facilities in Santa Barbara on Friday evening, April 15, 1983, was arranged by SBCGS member Emily Perry Thies, with assistance from many members including Lorraine Laabs, tickets and reservations, Evelyn Fetters, Mada Mylerburg, Janet Lawler, and Ruth Norris.

Mr. Chapman discussed various aspects of research in England and pointed out differences between customs and records in the United Kingdom and the United States, and responded to questions from the audience. A second two-hour lecture was delivered at the Goleta Community Center SBCGS library room on Saturday morning. He then went on to Ventura for a meeting and lecture at the Ventura Genealogical Society and then on to Salt Lake City for a scheduled appearance there. He surprised Emily Thies by remembering that three years ago her questions had evidenced interest in tracing ancestors in Northampton and brought her a packet of Northamptonshire material. He speaks easily and with a fine sense of humor, while dispensing valuable information. Some may wonder if what might appear to be Santa Barbara eccentricities or manners may not serve to lighten many a future talk - such as serving a meal on paper plates, without knives, when the rolls were not pre-buttered. His attitude was, "Well, I don't have to worry about changing hands when I use my fork."

Several guests from the Ventura Genealogical Society, Santa Maria, and the Santa Ynez valley attended the sessions. Melinda Hatfield, editor of the Oregon State Genealogical Society "Bulletin", was a guest of the editor and went on to Salt Lake City to do further research on the Mann family of Elgin, Scotland, New England and Virginia.

OTHER LOCAL EVENTS

This year the Local History Exhibit for Junior and Senior High School students, directed by Dr. Thomas Fuller, was held at the Allan Hancock Jr. College in Santa Maria on April 26 and 27.

A workshop in Oral History is scheduled to be held at University Center, UCSB on May 21-22, 1983, under the auspices of the Southwest Oral History Association. Scheduled topics include: "Interviewing Techniques" - Euid Douglass, Director, OHP, Clemenont; "Processing Procedures" - Mitch Tuchman, principal editor, OHP, UCLA; "Equipment" - Dale Treleven, Director, OHP, UCLA; "Oral Historians and Written Historians: Adversaries or Colleagues?" - G. Wesley Johnson, Professor of History, UCSB; dinner speaker, Thomas L. Charlton, Director, Inst. of Oral History, Baylor U., Waco, Texas; "Oral History: Its Exciting Present and Even More Promising Future, with a panel discussion on Sunday morning on Special Projects: "Research of the Babbitt Family Ranch" - Karin Ullman, Phoenix, Arizona; "Research of IndoChinese Refugees" - Ray Smith, Professor of History, SDSU; and Santa Barbara Museum of Art, Oral History Program; moderator, Lawrence B. de Graaf, Director, OHP, CSUF

SBCGS member, Patricia Meade White, author of "The Invincible Irish, Ronald Wilson Reagan, Irish Ancestry and Immigration to America", has received a purchase order from Nancy V. Menan, Chief, Library and Printed Archives of the National Archives, requested by the White House. This book also contains names and first settlements of the O'Regans who arrived before the Revolution and follows them westward from the Carolinas and Virginia. Some 250 names are indexed. The book was reviewed in an earlier issue of ANCESTORS WEST and may be obtained from Portola Press, P. O. Box 1225, Santa Barbara, CA 93102. $9.95 plus $1 mailing.

OTHER COMING EVENTS

July 13/16, 1983 First National Conference for Genealogists in the Northeast, sponsored by The Connecticut Society of Genealogists; The Association of Professional Genealogists, and The Federation of Genealogical Societies, Parkview Hilton, Hartford, Connecticut. THE MONTECITO CEMETERY

Richard S. Whiteshead,
Vice President, Santa Barbara Mission Archives-Library, formerly Santa Barbara County Planning Director, formerly President, executive secretary and trustee of Santa Barbara Trust for Historic Preservation, and source researcher re Santa Barbara Royal Presidio plans and history, at Bancroft Library and other facilities in California and Mexico.

If you were only fifteen years old and a healthy, active boy, would you be interested in researching the early history of an abandoned cemetery and find out who was buried there? Not likely!

Yet that is what Jay Pion of Boy Scout Troop 50 at the Carpinteria Community Church chose as the subject of the project he hoped would qualify him for an Eagle Scout Badge. His successes and disappointments are recorded in a fifty-page report that makes fascinating reading. His findings will be of value to a great many descendants of people buried in the Montecito Catholic Cemetery, just east of Sheffield Drive on the north side of East Valley Road. The information in this article is all extracted from Jay's report, with his permission.

Juan Ayala, a parishioner at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in Montecito, donated the 1.31 acre parcel to Bishop Mora for a cemetery in 1861. The book of deaths for Mt. Carmel Church starts in 1908 and ends in 1918. It records 18 burials at the Montecito Cemetery. Jay's challenge was to find the names of the other burials between 1861 and 1908 and to attempt to have the cemetery cleaned up, fenced, a plaque erected and regular maintenance established.

Jay found part of the record in a book entitled "Baptisms, Marriages and Deaths; Montecito, Carpinteria and La Patera, 1877-1883" written in Latin and stored in the safe at Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Santa Barbara. A copy is located at the Santa Barbara Mission Archives-Library. This book lists 33 burials in the Montecito Cemetery, for a total of 51. This still left a gap for the burials between 1883 and 1908.

From 1895 to 1899, the Old Mission Santa Barbara was responsible for the Montecito Cemetery, and the parish book of deaths for that period is kept at the parish office. Unfortunately, its entries do not indicate where the burials occurred. Jay then turned to the County Recorder's office where he checked through some 3500 death records. Here he found 26 names of people buried in Montecito between 1888 and 1910. Jay is not sure that twelve of these were buried at the Montecito Catholic Cemetery because the entry simply says "Montecito" which could mean either the Santa Barbara Cemetery east of East Beach or even a family cemetery before they were prohibited by County ordinance. No other records were found.

Jay next tackled the job of clean-up, fencing, marking and maintenance. At first he received cooperation from the Archdiocese, and in accord with their requirements, he arranged for a million dollar insurance certificate naming the Archbishop as an insured, and a harmless agreement, both executed through the Boy Scout organization. But then, approval to proceed was withdrawn without giving him any reasons for stopping him. He checked with the archdiocese attorney and was told there was no legal problem. A Los Angeles Time reporter interviewed him about this time, since Jay had a very newsworthy project, and a rather scathing feature article appeared in the Los Angeles Times issue of October 22, 1982. Shortly after, Jay was notified by letter signed by Timothy Cardinal Manning that the property would be fenced and certain trees removed, but that any other work would have to be done by cemetery authorities. Jay, a Catholic, was mildly rebuked by the Cardinal for the newspaper article. Jay wrote back and apologized for any embarrassment caused the Church, although he was, of course, not responsible for the news article.

Jay had arranged for a considerable amount of donated work and equipment and materials. A tractor was to clear the underbrush and some trees were to be removed. To keep the weeds down, a thick plastic sheet was to be laid on the ground and covered with several inches of wood chip-pings. Some bushes were to be planted, a split-rail fence constructed and a stone monument erected. Just before this work was to start, Jay received a call saying the project was permanently canceled. Subsequently, the fence was started, but then the posts were removed. Some trees that blew over in last winter's storms were cut and stacked. Nothing more is being done.

Jay's research work was a success, but there has been no material improvement on the property itself, and he is baffled as to why. There are two possible reasons, both understandable. If this cemetery is improved and maintained, it would be a precedent for descendants to demand similar action at other abandoned cemeteries. Secondly, such improvements could spark demands by descendants that they be buried next to their ancestors, necessitating continued expensive maintenance. These arguments seem weak considering the minimal improvements contemplated in Jay's project. They do not justify leaving him in the dark as to why his project was denied.

Jay is to be highly complimented for his choice of what turned out to be a difficult project and for his accomplishments. He has been diplomatic in his approaches to people, thorough and comprehensive in his research program, intelligent in his analysis of findings, and persevering in his refusal to give up when he encountered obstacles. He has a knack for historical research and this experience, though disappointing to him in some particulars, will enrich his future life. And he will receive his Eagle Scout Badge.

LEGISLATION TO PROTECT BURIAL SITES

Resolution of a prolonged and at times agonizing debate over the extremely complex issue of cemeteries and burial sites not subject to the protective and regulatory provisions of existing state law may or may not occur this legislative session.

AB-1811, authored by Robert Campbell (D-Richmond) and Robert Frazer (R-Carlsbad) is the culmination of a four-year effort by State officials, activists and legislators. Due to existence of competing interests and the complicated circumstances of the problem, it has taken that long merely to develop, largely by trial and error, the requisite statutory language. California state law does not at present address the fact that formerly burials were made outside legally recognized cemeteries. Also some historic communities no longer have established local authority, such as a cemetery district, to provide necessary care and protection.

In the last legislative session, limited expansion of the law respecting Native-American burials was adopted. Under this, state officials advise coroners upon the discovery of Indian remains on a case-by-case basis. Under AB-1811 ethnic pioneer, such as 19th century Chinese, and historic burials would also receive legal protection and state authorities would be directed to develop the guidelines local officials would proceed under when such remains are discovered. Also recognizing that some sites are already known to state and local authorities, the new law would direct the state to develop guidelines for their care and management.

Recent requests for cooperation and expressions of interest have been received from an Oxnard member of the Ventura Genealogical Society and from a person connected with the Museum division of the Bancroft Library and from representatives of various graveyard associations. Individuals are asked to communicate with their legislative representatives, both in the state assembly and senate.

NATIONAL MUSEUM DAY - MAY 18, 1983

May 18, 1983, will be celebrated in Santa Barbara as National Museum Day, with special features at the Santa Barbara Historical Society Museum, Santa Barbara Museum of Art, Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History and El Presidio de Santa Barbara National Historic Place, as well as the Santa Barbara Botanic Garden and Santa Barbara Zoo (Child's Estate).

SEARCHING FOR NEW ENGLAND ANCESTORS?

Let the Seattle Genealogical Society help you.

A register of New England and New York residents being researched is scheduled for publication by Seattle Genealogical Society in fall of 1983.

To qualify, an ancestor must have lived, been born, married or died in the New England states, or New York prior to 1850.

When completed, this softbound book will be a reference to others searching your lines, surnames and perhaps your ancestors. Designed as a book with a limited time span -- up to 1850 -- and a limited geographic area, this will be a useful tool for those blocked by the absence of names of all family members in the census enumerations prior to 1850.

Seattle Genealogical Society invites participation by all whose families were in the New England states or New York at the appropriate time. Membership in the Seattle Genealogical Society ($10 per year) and submission of 3 x 5 cards in correct style are the only requisites.

Deadline for submitting cards is set for 1 June 1983. For a flyer on how-to, send SASE to SGS, Box 549, Seattle, WA 98111. Entry in the book does not obligate you to buy the finished book.

WORTHINGTON DESCENDANTS Newsletter, Editors: Frances Brengle, Bette Brengle-Poole, 6619 Pheasant Pd., Rte. #16, Baltimore, MD 21120.

Published quarterly, subscription $12.00 yearly, covering all branches of the WORTHINGTON surname and many allied lineages. The purpose of the newsletter is to find together the extended family of WORTHINGTON and to serve all descendants in a newsletter which will include a query column, heraldry, abstracts, wills, deeds, ancestral charts, tombstone inscriptions and family history.

LUTHER BURBANK INFORMATION SOUGHT

Mrs. Charlotte Anderson, 2147 Crane Canyon Rd., Santa Rosa, CA 95404, curator of the Burbank Museum in Santa Rosa, recently sought information relating to the Burbank family in Santa Barbara County. Luther's younger brother, Alfred born 2 Feb 1852 (death ctf.) Lancaster, Mass. (according to report in Santa Rosa Press Democrat of Aug. 2, 1923) d. 1 Aug. 1923 in Duncans Springs, Mendocino County, California while enjoying a summer outing with his wife, Martha Knapp Burbank. For many years he had been engaged in educational work and had made his home in Santa Barbara. Alfred made yearly visits to the health resort near Hopland, Mendocino County, and had many warm friends in Santa Rosa, the home of his brother Luther. Alfred, according to the notice, was survived by one sister, Mrs. Emma Burbank Beccon, of Healdsburg, but left no close survivors aside from his widow, brother and sister. Martha Knapp was a widow at the time of marriage to Alfred and after his death resumed the Knapp name. Mrs. Anderson questions a statement in Walker Tompkins' Goleta, The Good Lang, that Luther Burbank rented two acres of land in Goleta for the purpose of experimentation and propagation of a spineless variety of cactus to be used as cattle feed. Mr. Tompkins reported that the information was given him by Mr. Sexton, the prominent horticulturist, now deceased and that he knew of no others who could throw light on the subject.

NEW U. S. AND EUROPEAN RECORDS OPEN DOOR TO JEWISH ANCESTORS

Would you like to know the precise address of your grandparents at the turn of the century? How about the name of the ship that brought them to America? Or even a description of the European shtetl they once lived in?

Thanks to recent applications of computer and microfilm technology, the distant past in America and Europe — once thought lost due to neglect and the Holocaust — is now becoming vividly available to Jews interested in tracing their family history. And they are doing just that in ever-increasing numbers throughout the U. S. Jewish Genealogical Societies have sprung up in almost every major Jewish population center. It is estimated that more than 25,000 Jewish family researchers are engaged in a search of their roots. Many of these genealogists are expected to gather this summer in Los Angeles for the Third Annual National Seminar in Jewish Genealogy. Most of the conference activity will likely center on new Eastern European records and ships' passenger lists, microfilmed by The Mormon Church in Salt Lake City. These documents are now available for inspection by family researchers at the large Mormon Branch Library in Los Angeles, the largest genealogical repository outside of the Mormon Library in Salt Lake City. In addition, the family searchers will delve into 1900 and 1910 American Census Records, also available at the Los Angeles facility.

The summer conference, slated for July 31 to August 4, 1983, at the Ramada Inn in Beverly Hills, also will permit the genealogists — some of whom have traced their ancestors back to Maimonides and Rashi — to use the Judaic Libraries of Hebrew Union College and UCLA. Both institutions house an extraordinary collection of Yizkor (memorial) books containing detailed histories of hundreds of European communities.

Seminar Chairman, Richard Orkin, said the three-day conference will be geared to the needs of the beginning and advanced genealogist. "The program is jam-packed with all kinds of hands-on activity," he said. "Along with the on location field trips, there will be workshops, panel discussions and a variety of audio/visual presentations. Among the well-known experts to participate in the event will be Jack Kugelmas, an anthropologist on the faculty of the Max Weinrich Center at YIVO in New York City. He will conduct a series of seminars on life in Eastern Europe, based on research he did for his soon-to-be-published From the Ruined Garden: Readings from the Memorial Books of Polish Jews."

Advanced reservations are required for the conference. Registration forms may be obtained by writing JGS SUMMER SEMINAR, P. O. BOX 25245, LOS ANGELES, CA 90025.

THEY CAME TO SANTA BARBARA

CAPTAIN WILLIAM GOODWIN DANA was born in Boston, Mass., in May, 1797. When he was 18 years old, his uncle sent him to look after his business in China and India. Three years later he returned to Boston and earned his first-class navigator's license. He left Boston on the Brig Waverly and began his trading career.

In 1825 he established a store in Santa Barbara, where he met Maria Josefa Carrillo. In order to marry he had to become a Mexican citizen and a Catholic. Captain Dana and Maria Josefa were married in 1828. She gave birth to 21 children, 8 of whom died in infancy.

After Captain Dana officially became a Mexican citizen in 1835, he applied for and received a land grant to Nipomo of more than 37,000 acres. He began building the present adobe, located at 871 Oak Glenn Rd., Nipomo, CA, in 1839. The original adobe was one-story. As the family grew, a second story and the wings were added. The rancho was a trade center, cloth, soap, furniture, agricultural implements and candles were among the items manufactured at the rancho for trade.

Later the adobe was a stage stop and a mail stop.

The adobe is not simply a monument to one man's accomplishments, but rather representative of the era when beginning settlers helped open the doors to those who would continue building the communities in San Luis Obispo County. The San Luis Obispo County Historical Society's objective is to make the restoration of the adobe so complete that the "Casa de Dana" will truly identify as one of the outstanding historical buildings in San Luis Obispo County.

EDMUND M. BURKE, the Tax Collector of Santa Barbara County, was born in the City of Santa Barbara, 15 April 1871 and received his education under private tutors. In 1884 he entered St. Vincent's College at Los Angeles. His first public position was the office of deputy county tax collector under his father, Miguel F. BURKE, born 23 Nov. 1839 in an adobe house on Figueroa between State and Anacapa. Miguel was the only son of Captain James Walter BURKE, a native of Galway, Ireland, and an officer in the English merchant marine service when he visited Santa Barbara in the 1820's and determined to settle here. He married in Monterey, California, Sen. Josefa BORONDA, a member of an old Spanish family of California. They had several daughters, but only one son, Miguel. In 1898 EDMUND BURKE became mayor of Santa Barbara. During his term of office a new charter was adopted, which made the age of eligibility to the Mayor's office at 30 years and he was therefore ineligible for re-election. On the death of his father in 1900, the Board of Supervisors appointed him to fill the vacancy in the office of County Tax Collector. He married Lorena May GARFIELD, born in Spring Valley, Minnesota, and at the time of the writing of the article in the Santa Barbara County History had two children Lorena A. and Edmund F. Lorena married Hansel S. Sweeney and died at age 69 13 April 1966; Edmund and his family lived in the Bay area. For many years he was an attorney for the Southern Pacific railroad company, but is now retired. Margaret (widow of Major Jerry Bennett), a younger daughter of Edmund and Lorena (Garfield) Burke, lives in Santa Barbara, and does volunteer work connected with early Santa Barbara families at the Santa Barbara Historical Society (Gedhill Library). Lorena's parents were Salmon Hull GARFIELD b. Glover, Vt. 23 Sept 1841; d. Santa Barbara, CA 23 Nov. 1906; came with family 1887, the year of first rail service to Santa Barbara; m. in Sheffield, Vt. 14 May 1864, Helen Jane SMITH, dau. of Johnston and Emeline (Wilson) SMITH, b. 23 Feb. 1844 Newark, Vt.; d. Santa Barbara 2 Oct. 1913. Grandparents: Hosea B. GARFIELD, b. Glover, Vt. 18 March 1814 and Diancy (Scott) GARFIELD, b. Calais, Vt. 30 June 1812; d. Sheffield, Vt. 19 Oct 1877. Great Grandparents: Stephen GARFIELD, b. 29 Dec. 1792; d. 19 Apr. 1857; m. Lydia SCOTT b. Hartford, Vt. 6 Nov 1790; d. Sheffield, Vt. 1 Dec 1867. Great Great Grandparents: AARON GARFIELD and his wife (name not stated) were the seventh to settle in Glover, in the grant to General John Glover (of Mass.) John Patterson and Company, June 27, 1781, recorded under date of March 15, 1788, in the official state papers of Vermont. The Gazetteer of Caledonia and Essex Counties, Vermont, 1764-1887, compiled and published by Hamilton Child, describes the Aaron Garfield family as "closely related to President Garfield's ancestor," and lists 6 children in this family: Isaac, Ira, Stephen, John, Sally and Ralph.

Another daughter of Salmon and Helen Garfield, Emmie Diancy, b. 25 Sept. 1869, Spring Valley, Minn., d. Alameda, CA 27 Dec, 1908. She m. Peter Clarke MACFARLANE in Santa Barbara 8 March 1891. Their daughter Helen Isabelle was b. Los Angeles 20 Jan. 1892.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY LOCALITIES

President Scofield has suggested the inclusion in ANCESTORS WEST of a map or other material identifying the location of places referred to in the marriage records. A map has been obtained from the Santa Barbara Historical Society and is reproduced above, showing many interesting features including Land Grant names as well as population centers. Does any reader know the true location of Serena? Was it possibly near the Rincon, south of Carpinteria? Or as indicated in the accompanying schedule possibly a rancho called El Tranquillo?

It has been suggested that there be made available to SBCGS members a blow-up of this map, showing location of Ranchos, settlements, and other points of interest in Santa Barbara County. SBCGS has the negative.

If interested, let President Scofield know.

KENTUCKY

CAPITAL, FRANKFORT · STATE 1792 · (15TH)

More than 13,000 years ago Indians were established in what is now Kentucky; as early as 1584 it was included by Virginia in her Augusta County. Later all of Kentucky was made part of Virginia's Fincastle County. An early explorer, Dr. Thomas Walker, entered Kentucky after discovering Cumberland Gap in 1750. Some 25 years later the Transylvania Company was organized under Col. Richard Henderson of North Carolina. From Indian tribes he purchased almost half of what is now the state of Kentucky, all of the land between the Kentucky River, in the central part of the state, and the Cumberland River, in the most western part. In 1774 the first permanent settlement was made at Harrodsburg. Daniel Boone first explored the area in 1767 and in 1775 founded Boonesboro and moved his family there from Rowan County, North Carolina. Most of the early settlers came from Maryland, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, and Virginia and were of German, English, Irish and Scottish descent. Nine counties existed in 1790. On June 1, 1792, Kentucky became the 15th state admitted to the union. With increased European immigration many also came to Kentucky from Russia, Italy, Poland and Austria.

The Division of Vital Records, State Dept. of Health, 275 East Main St., Frankfort, KY 40601, has birth and death records from the beginning of 1911. Still earlier records may be found in the City Health Dept. in some larger cities. Records of births and deaths from some counties as early as 1851 may be found in the library of the Kentucky Historical Society, 200-202 Broadway, Frankfort, KY 40601. The County Clerk of the county in which the transaction was completed may have wills, probate, marriage and divorce records.

POLISH GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY BULLETIN, No. 1, - 984 North Milwaukee Ave. Chicago, Illinois 60622, an Illinois Not For Profit Corporation announces arrangements have been made to establish an Ancestor Index Card File to be housed in the Library of the Polish Museum of America at the above address, accessible to anyone doing genealogical research. Participants are asked to prepare separate cards for each ancestor, using the earliest one in that line. Use 3 x 5 cards, type or print:

1. Last name first, followed by first name and initial. Send only earliest ancestor in each line.
2. Date of birth or approximate date, location, be as specific as possible.
3. Date of death or approximate date, location; be specific.

TENNESSEE

Mound Builders were the earliest known inhabitants of Tennessee. The explorer Hernando De Soto was the first European to enter what is now Tennessee, in 1541 discovering the Mississippi River near present-day Memphis. At that time there were Cherokee Indians in eastern Tennessee, Shawnees in the middle area, and Chicksaws in western Tennessee. During the 17th and 18th centuries both France and England claimed parts of the territory. In 1763 France relinquished all lands east of the Mississippi River to England. Permanent European settlement began in 1772 the settlers in isolated centers organized themselves into the Watuga Association. Two of the leaders were John Sevier and James Robertson, who in 1779 founded a community near present-day Nashville. In the American Revolution forces led by Sevier and Isaac Shelby were instrumental in winning the important Battle of Kings Mountain in North Carolina (Oct. 7, 1780). That victory prevented the joining of two British forces and hastened the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown. In 1776 North Carolina accepted the district as Washington County, which eventually included all of the present Tennessee. To secure federal protection, North Carolina ceded the area to the national government as a gift. No action being taken by the national government for 4 or 5 years, some of the settlers took matters into their own hands, organizing a new state, Franklin. North Carolina refused to recognize the new state. Sevier, its governor, was arrested in 1788. The new state collapsed and North Carolina again ceded the area to the national government in 1789. In 1790 President Washington commissioned William Blount governor of all United States territory south of the Ohio River. On June 1, 1796, Tennessee became the 16th state with Sevier its first governor. In the War of 1812 Tennessee supplied 28,000 troops and had more soldiers than any other state in the Battle of New Orleans, won by its native son, Andrew Jackson. Tennessee furnished most of the men and commanders in the ensuing Indian wars east of the Mississippi. Among the volunteers were Davy Crockett, who died at the Alamo, and Gen. Sam Houston, who became the first president of the Republic of Texas.

Almost as many early settlers came from North Carolina as came from South Carolina and Virginia. Many Scotch-Irish came into the area through the Shenandoah Valley. German families settled in several of the counties west of Chattanooga, where many descendants still live.

At the commencement of the Civil War, Tennessee was torn between nearly unanimous support of the Union in the abolitionist east and equally strong support of the Confederacy in the slave-holding middle and west. Tennessee was the last Southern State to secede and the first to be readmitted to the Union after the war. More battles in the Civil War were fought on Tennessee soil than in any other state except Virginia.

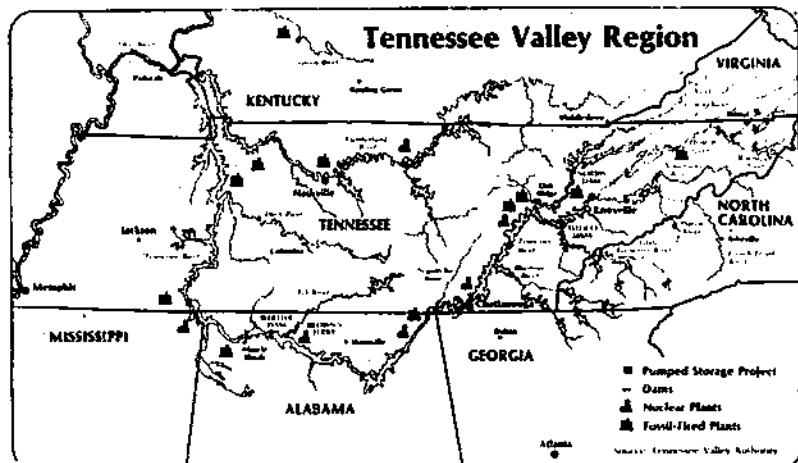

The famous Scopes Trial, participated in by William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow, testing a Tennessee statute prohibiting the teaching of the Darwinian theory of evolution in the public schools, took place in Dayton, Tennessee, in 1925. The challenge was unsuccessful and that statute remained on the books until 1967.

In addition to President Andrew Jackson, prominent personages include Cordell Hull, Secretary of State under President Franklin Roosevelt and Estes Kefauver, elected to the U. S. Senate in 1948, who became a leader for civil rights struggles and against organized crime. On April 4, 1968, the Rev. Martin Luther King was assassinated in Memphis.

BOOK REVIEWS

WORLD WAR I ARMY ANCESTRY, Norman Holding, Federation of Family History Societies 96, Beaumont Street, Milehouse, Plymouth, Devon, PL2 3AQ, ISBN 0-907099-20-3, 88 pages, 1982. The contents are mainly concerned with Army NCO's and private soldiers and is designed to provide the Family History researcher with a list of sources available in reconstructing the career of a soldier. The most difficult step is the first, finding the unit. Family evidence giving precise details saves much time. For others: Make out a list of all the known facts and unsubstantiated data on the ancestor's career. A typical list is shown in Fig. 1, consisting of 18 items including number taken from war medal, photos showing badges and stripes on uniforms, postcards (facts) and 7 vague memories of relatives, listed as unsubstantiated facts and traditions. Many suggestions are made for pursuing the search. Pages 40-88 are devoted to a Reference Section, containing 1. List of Missing Documents; 2. Bibliography (pp.42-48); 3. Notes (pp.49-54); 4. Appendix 1 - List of Regiments and Corps of the British Army; 5. List of Divisions in the British Army; 6. Appendix 3. Types of Unit making up the British Army; 7. Appendix 4 - List of the principal Battles of World War I; and 8. Figures 1 to 12, illustrating the progress of the author's search in tracing his father's War service in France 1916-1919, in a Motor Ambulance Convoy manned by both the Army Service Corps and the Royal Army Medical Corps.

YOUR FAMILY HISTORY, C(onstance) M(ary) Matthews, Revised Edition, 1982, Lutterworth Press, Farnham Road, Guildford, Surrey, England, ISBN 0-7188-2542-x, 144 pp. Address List 122-142, index 143-144. The author was born and educated in New Zealand where her father was Dean of Christchurch Cathedral. Later, in England, as the wife of a housemaster at Haileybury College, she found time among her many other activities to research deeply into the history of the locality. The oldest of the record, manorial rolls from the 13th century, quickened her interest in the rise of surnames in England. Two of her other books are entitled How Surnames Began and How Place-Names Began. The present work is most readable, describing in a conversational manner how to go about tracing one's lineage, the importance of keeping accurate notes, and the availability of various types of records, particularly in England, including national records; wills; parish registers; vestry books; churchwardens' accounts; the records of the professions and of the services; old trade directories. Also covered is the reading of old handwriting, with illustrations; comment on the use of libraries and repositories; the development of the use of surnames, Christian names and heraldry. Examples of pedigree charts include a 6-generation Carrington chart; ancestral chart of Emily Heywood Johns (wife of 4th generation Henry Edmund Carrington, 1806-1859); a 4-generation chart for her parents; and a circular chart for her husband, Edgar Charles Matthews. The use of bold-face type points up items of special interest or importance. To her suggestions might be added the importance of adopting a numbering system, to facilitate identification. Illustrations include: Marriage register of Hazelbury Bryan, 1757, showing the printed forma introduced in 1754; the parish register of Gussage All Saints, 1637-1638, with marriage, baptism and burial entries all on the same page; the burials register of Hazelbury Bryan, 1647-1650, written by the vicar in Latin, and more informative, giving date of death as well as burial in some, and descriptions such as "infant son" and "octogenarian widow"; Manorial Court Book of Dwelish, 1767, page showing names of the jury and homage; a Court Roll of Wynfrith Hundred, 1463, and a gravestone of Ann Holmes and her daughter Harriet, 1796, at Desborough, inscribed "wife and daughter of William Holmes, daughter and granddaughter of Francis & Ann Kilborn, who died 5th December 1796, aged 22 years," telling more than would the parish register.

This volume was received as a review copy, price £7.95 net from the Publicity Dept. Luke House, Farnham Road, Guildford, Surrey of the Publisher, Lutterworth Press.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY

One of California's 27 original counties. While the county was actually created in 1850, the history of the area dates back to 1542. In that year Juan Cabrillo discovered the Santa Barbara Channel and later, according to legend crossed to San Miguel Island, where he died and was buried. A second Spanish explorer, Sebastian Vizcaino, entered the channel on the Feast Day of Saint Barbara in 1602 and named the area accordingly. Fr. Junipero Serra founded the Santa Barbara mission in 1786. Santa Barbara Royal Presidio, established April 21, 1782, was the last of four royal presidios in Alta California - San Diego, Monterey, San Francisco and Santa Barbara. Santa Barbara had all three Spanish forms- Presidio representing the military; Pueblo, civil and Mission, religious.

In 1873 Ventura County was established from the southern portion of the original Santa Barbara area.
