Ramblings From Your Editor

"Chiggers and ticks, chiggers and ticks. We're going to get bit by chiggers and ticks." This was the chant my friend Tina and I uttered as we waded through thigh-high grass in rural Missouri trying to find tombstones of my dead relatives.

When we weren't singing along with Tom Jones on the tape player, or stopping to take photos of Placido the plastic pink flamingo in his unnatural habitat, we were on a quest to find the old homesteads and graves of our ancestors.

When we hit Wayland, Missouri (population 300 when approaching from the south, population over 400 when coming in from the north), I went to the oracle of all small towns—the mini-market.

There I met the clerk, a very pleasant young gal, who happened to be a member of the local historical society. With her help and that of a customer, I was sent off to a small cemetery that was "on the road to St. Francisville, after the tall silo on the left, turn left after the substation and go down the road until the blacktop ends." At the top of this shady hill I found my great-great-great-grandfather's broken tombstone. I felt a mishmash of emotions: the thrill of finding

Civil War Soldier in Santa Barbara • By Paul Barrett

My great uncle, Henry H. Wyaff, wrote an account of his experiences as a soldier in the Civil War. The following is an excerpt that relates to Santa Barbara.

I enlisted in Co. H., 2nd Reg't California Volunteer Infantry, at Carson City, Nevada, on the 19th of Oct., 1861, and was at once sent to Presidio Barracks, San Francisco, for drill. On the 22nd of Dec. 1861 we boarded the old steamer "Pacific" and after nightfall we sailed out of the harbor. We privates had not the faintest idea where or in what direction we were going, but at daybreak we found that we were running south, along the coast of California. About noon on the second day we came within half a mile of shore and dropped anchor. Three small boats were lowered and thirty men ordered ashore, each man being provided with musket, knapsack, and forty rounds of ball cartridge. We were then rowed as near the shore as it was possible for the boats to go, and ordered to wade the remaining distance. In this way the entire force of 350 men were brought to land, together with commissary and quartermaster stores. We found that our place of landing was near the city of Santa Barbara, and about sundown we marched up, near the town, and camped for the night. Instead of building winter quarters, we were stationed in the Mission church of Santa Barbara, and there we remained until the 8th of April 1862, when the old steamer again appeared. It came in close to shore, and we very soon received orders to break camp, and go on board the ship.

We began immediately sending men and stores to the ship, but daylight dawned before we had finished our work. Finally, all arrangements having been made, we sailed away and this time we went north.

Henry Wyaff landed at Fort Humboldt in northern California and was assigned to protect settlers from Indians. After being severely wounded in an Indian attack, he recovered and sailed south, marched across the Isthmus of Panama and took another ship to Massachusetts where he joined the 2nd Mass. Cavalry.

Turbo Genealogy - An Introduction to Family History Research in the Information.

By John and Carolyn Cosgriff. 1997. Softbound, 200 pp., $17.95 plus $5.25 shipping. Order from Ancestry Incorporated, P.O. Box 476, Salt Lake City, Utah 84110.

The Preface lists the three primary purposes for the book: (1) A genealogical research primer; (2) A reference that will help you take advantage of a rich environment of information; and, (3) Teach you how to effectively use a computer in your search.

This book is basically a "how-to" book on genealogical research and where to look for the information. It provides basic computer terminology, and a limited discussion of what is available to the computer user. However, it fails to fulfill the promise of teaching you how to utilize the computer as a research tool.

Your Scottish Ancestry, A Guide for North Americans.

By Sherry Irvine. 1996. 5-1/2 X 8-1/2 in., softbound, 253 pp., $19.95 plus $4.95 shipping cost. Order from Ancestry, P. O. Box 990, Orem, UT 84059. Ph. (801) 426-3500, Fax (805) 426-3501, Internet <<http://www.ancestry.com>>.

A genealogist's blessing is finding a book rich with information in readily understandable terms. This book offers a clear discussion on general subjects as: library catalogue and research methods, tips on organizing and identifying research objectives, and suggestions on placing the genealogical information within historical and cultural context. It also details research particular to Scottish ancestry.

This includes: changes in county lines and surnames, where to go to identify place names, data in the civil registration from 1855 and onward, censuses starting from 1841, and where census-like facts prior to 1841 exist. Irvine also mentions the pitfalls to census and Scottish research; as well as tips on using the LDS catalogue, local directories, electoral rolls, newspapers, and church records.

There is a section about the benefits and the differences between the indices of the Old Parish Registers (OPR) on the IGI, the OPR fiche index, and the Scottish Church Records on CD-ROM. The use of the micro-filmed OPR records, monumental inscriptions (i.e., gravestones), the Kirk Session records (Church of Scotland) and those of other denominations are also covered.

The second half of the book is for the experienced researcher. The following are topics covered: location of wills, heirship to land and transfers of land (salines), trades and occupations, taxes, deeds, paupers, criminal records, and migrants.

The book concludes with a checklist for problem-solving, and has detailed appendices. There also is a list of addresses (mail and Internet), and incredibly thorough bibliography. The information in this book is well worth the cost, not duplicated by other books, and I am on my way to purchasing my own copy!

Hispanic Confederates.

By John O'Donnell-Rosales. 1998. Paper, 90 pp. Order from Clearfield Co., 200 East Eager Street, Baltimore, MD 21202

After a three-page preface and introduction, the remainder of the book is an alphabetical listing of Hispanic soldiers and sailors (with the identity of their military unit), plus a bibliography. The author is a 1971 immigrant from Cuba who has become a student and lover of the American South, and claims a Confederate ancestor. He introduces the reader to the history of Spanish culture and language being spread across the southern U.S. The case is made that the role of Hispanics has not been adequately incorporated into the conventional Civil War histories.

It is implied that Spanish surnames were the basis for the choice of men for the lists. Also included are men of the Jewish faith whose ancestors were expelled from Spain in 1492. Warnings are given to the reader regarding the variations in spelling of names.

Federal Pensioners' Roll of 1883.

CD-ROM Version. $39.95. Order from Heritage Quest, P.O. Box 329, Bountiful, UT 84011-0329. Order Line: 1-800-760-2455.

This single CD-ROM disc contains names of 277,702 individuals or their widows who were entitled to pensions for their service in the Revolutionary War, War of 1812, Cherokee Removal, Mexican War and Civil War. The information is presented as an alphabetical index to the 1883 Pensioners' Roll, a 5-volume publication of the U.S. Pension Bureau. The index gives the name of the pensioner (as of 1882), the state of residence, the county of residence, the volume of the printed pension roll and the page number within the roll. In addition, each name is linked to the page on which the pensioner is listed, and by using the magnification tools at the bottom of the screen, one is able to view the actual source page from the book. The software necessary to run this CD-ROM is included with the disc and the setup procedure was easy and simple to follow.

American Naturalization Records, 1790-1990: What They Are and How to Use Them.

By John J. Newman. (1985) 1998. Paper, 127 pp. $12.95, plus P & H. Order from Heritage Quest, P.O. Box 329, Bountiful, UT 84011-0329. Phone: 1-800-760-2455.

To learn where and when an immigrant ancestor filed and obtained his citizenship can give a researcher some valuable genealogical information. However, this naturalization process is not always easy to follow. This book will help to make it all clearer.

The author describes his book as "a genealogy of the citizenship process...It provides fine details on naturalization procedures."

A chapter on Naturalization Courts helps explain court records, and how the records are formed. Naturalization Laws - from 1790 to the present—with all changes—are explained in another chapter. All the questions asked in the U.S. Census records—a source most genealogists are familiar with—are discussed.

Finally, two chapters, one on "Research Procedure," and another on "Pointers," get the family historian on the way. And with an "Inventory Check List," all the possibilities are opened.

This is a learning book. There are no lists of people naturalized nor of places. But the reader will find an explanation of the whole process of naturalization with all its steps. From that the records of the immigrant ancestor—with all the important genealogical information—can be unearthed.

What's New In Tombstones?

Be on the cutting-edge-- have a tombstone with computer built into it.

It is now possible to have a computerized tombstone that holds pages of personal data, photographs, poems and stories. These interactive grave markers cost about $5,000.

Master the possibilities.
One could load it with pictures of when one was fit and trim, or with the family tree, or have a video of one saying, "I told you I was sick!"

Illinois Records Closed

The Illinois State Legislature passed an act restricting access to public records only to those with a private investigator's license.
Genealogists are not exempt from this regulation.

his grave; an appreciation of the beauty of the land that he had spent his life farming; and bemusement that here I stood, a half-Chinese kid from California, in a still very Caucasian community. I'm sure it's an ethnic combination of descendents that John Butcher never entertained in his lifetime. The twists and turns of fate will never cease to amaze me.

Material for this quarterly publication is solicited from members and non-members of the Society.

Santa Barbara County

One of California's 27 original counties. While the county was actually created in 1850, the written history of the area dates back to 1542. In that year Juan Cabrillo discovered the Santa Barbara Channel and later, according to legend, crossed to San Miguel Island where he died and was buried. A second Spanish explorer, Sebastian Vizcaino, entered the channel on the Feast Day of Saint Barbara in 1602, and named the area accordingly. Fr. Fermin Francisco de Lasuen founded the Santa Barbara mission in 1786. Santa Barbara Royal Presidio, established April 21, 1782, by Fr. Junipero Serra, was the last of four royal presidios in Alta California: Santa Barbara, San Diego, Monterey, and San Francisco. Santa Barbara had all three Spanish forms of administration - Presidio representing the military, Pueblo the civil, and Mission the religious. In 1873, Ventura County was established from the southern portion of the original Santa Barbara area.
